Information regarding applications for a visa for the purpose of marriage and subsequent permanent residence in Germany

1. General information

Visa applications have to be submitted personally in the office of the German Honorary Consul in Mauritius.

Please note that applications can only be proceeded after all documents have been handed in.

The Embassy informs that the mere submission of all documents does not constitute any claim for the issuance of a visa.

2. Procedure

Please submit all documents in person in the office of the German Honorary Consul.

Incomplete applications can not be accepted.

In general, the submission of the documents mentioned at the end of this leaflet should be sufficient. In some cases further documents may have to be handed in or a personal interview with the Honorary Consul might be considered.

The visa fees (60,- €) have to be paid upon application and can not be reimbursed, even if the visa is not granted. All fees have to be paid in rupees. Moreover, an additional fee of 35,- € (payable in rupees) will be charged for the transmission of the documents via courier service (Mauritius – Madagascar – Mauritius). If necessary further fees might be charged for certification of those documents.

All Mauritian documents have to be apostilled by the Prime Minister's Office (4th floor, Port Louis). Furthermore, each Mauritian document has to be accompanied by a German translation. The Honorary Consul's Office offers translation services at the charge of 10,-€ per document (payable in rupees).

Once all required documents have been submitted, they are sent to the German Embassy in Antananarivo. After assessment through the competent section within the Embassy, the application is forwarded to the competent Aliens Authority in Germany, who has to give its approval to the issuance of the visa.

Please note that the Embassy cannot decide on whether the visa can be issued or not before the competent authority in Germany has cast its vote. In general, the procedure takes approx. 8 weeks after all the required documents and information have been duly submitted. Please refrain from making enquiries within this time.

Provided that all requirements for the issuance of the visa are met, the office of the Honorary Consul will inform you per telephone.

Once you have received your visa, make sure that all details regarding personal and travel data are correct. The Embassy assumes no liability for claims resulting from potential mistakes.
